

Handwritten text in red ink on aged, fibrous paper. The characters are stylized and appear to be in a non-Latin script, possibly a form of cursive or shorthand. The ink is thick and shows some bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The paper has a yellowish-tan hue and a visible fibrous texture.

