Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, on a parchment strip. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words in red ink (rubrication). The script is dense and characteristic of the late Middle Ages. The parchment is aged and shows some wear and tear at the edges.

Vertical text written along the right edge of the parchment strip, possibly a marginal note or a reference.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Tamil, on a palm leaf manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately seven horizontal lines. The script is dark and appears to be a traditional form of the Tamil alphabet. A notable feature is a word in red ink, possibly a title or a specific marker, located in the middle of the fourth line. The leaf shows signs of age, with some staining and irregular edges.

Vertical handwritten text on the right edge of the leaf, likely a marginal note or a reference.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely a liturgical or legal document. The text is arranged in several lines across the page. A prominent feature is a line of text in red ink, which appears to be a title or a specific section header. The script is dense and characteristic of the period.

Vertical handwritten text on the right margin, possibly a reference or a note.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly a liturgical book or manuscript. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words in red ink (rubrics). The script is dense and characteristic of the period.

Vertical text on the right side of the page, likely a marginal note or a reference to another part of the manuscript.
