

Handwritten text in a cursive script on a dark, aged parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately six lines. A prominent red initial 'M' is visible in the middle section, marking the beginning of a new word or phrase. The script is dense and characteristic of medieval or early modern manuscripts. The parchment shows signs of wear, including a tear near the top center and some staining.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Coptic, on a fragment of papyrus. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines. A prominent word in red ink, possibly a title or a specific marker, is visible in the middle of the fragment. The script is dense and characteristic of early Christian manuscripts.

Handwritten text in a cursive script on a parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately 10 lines. A prominent red initial 'I' is visible in the middle section, marking the beginning of a new word or phrase. The script is dense and characteristic of medieval manuscripts.