

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Gothic or Carolingian minuscule, on a dark, aged parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately six lines, enclosed within a faint red rectangular border. The script is dense and difficult to decipher due to the dark ink and the texture of the parchment. The text appears to be a formal document or a list of entries, possibly related to a church or a royal court. The final line ends with a large, decorative initial 'L'.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, on a dark, aged parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately six lines, enclosed within a faint red rectangular border. The script is dense and characteristic of the Middle Ages. The parchment is dark brown with some lighter, worn areas, particularly at the edges. The text is written in black ink and appears to be a single block of text, possibly a page from a larger manuscript or a specific document fragment.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, written on a parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately six lines and is enclosed within a red rectangular border. The script is dense and characteristic of the Middle Ages. The parchment is aged and shows some wear and tear, particularly at the edges.

Handwritten text in a medieval Gothic script, enclosed in a red rectangular border. The text is arranged in approximately six lines and appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly names or titles. The script is dense and characteristic of the 12th or 13th century. The parchment is aged and shows signs of wear, with some staining and a small tear on the right side.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, on a dark, aged parchment. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines, though some are partially obscured by shadows or damage. The script is dense and characteristic of the late Middle Ages. A small, dark, diamond-shaped mark is visible in the middle of the text, possibly a decorative initial or a stain. The parchment shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, on a dark, aged parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines, written in a dense, cursive style. The parchment shows signs of wear, including discoloration and some staining, particularly in the center. The script is dark and contrasts with the lighter, aged background of the parchment. The text appears to be a continuous passage, possibly a liturgical or legal document, given the formal nature of the script and the use of a parchment strip.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, on a parchment fragment. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines, with some characters appearing to be ligatures or specific abbreviations. The script is dark and contrasts with the aged, brownish parchment background. A small red mark is visible in the middle of the second line from the bottom.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, on a heavily stained and aged parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines, starting with a red vertical line on the left side. The script is dense and difficult to decipher due to the age and staining of the parchment. A small red diamond-shaped mark is visible in the middle of the fourth line. The parchment is dark brown with significant water damage and discoloration, particularly towards the right edge.