

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Pahlavi, on a piece of aged, brown parchment. The text is arranged in approximately 12 horizontal lines, written in a dense, cursive style. The parchment shows signs of wear, including discoloration and some small holes or damage, particularly along the right edge. The script is dark and contrasts with the lighter, textured background of the parchment.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Cuneiform, on a fragment of aged, brownish paper. The text is arranged in approximately 12 horizontal lines, though some characters are overlapping and difficult to decipher. The script consists of small, wedge-shaped characters. The paper shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration. The text appears to be a fragment of a larger document, possibly a list or a record, given the repetitive nature of some characters and the structured layout.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, on aged parchment. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines, though some characters are overlapping and difficult to decipher. The script is dense and characteristic of the late Middle Ages. The parchment is heavily stained and discolored, particularly towards the edges, and shows signs of significant wear and tear.
