

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Indic, on aged, yellowed paper. The text is arranged in approximately six horizontal lines. The script is highly cursive and dense, with many characters appearing to be variations of a common set of characters. The paper shows signs of significant age, including creases, discoloration, and some loss of material at the edges. A faint red vertical line is visible on the right side of the page, possibly indicating a margin or the end of a section. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but clearly antique manuscript fragment.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Tamil, on aged, yellowed paper. The text is arranged in approximately six horizontal lines. The script is dense and cursive, with some characters appearing to be in a different script or dialect. The paper shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration. A faint red vertical line is visible on the right side of the page, possibly indicating a margin or a section boundary. The overall appearance is that of an old, well-preserved manuscript fragment.