

Handwritten characters in black ink on aged paper. The characters are 'D' and 'X'. A yellow horizontal band and two red vertical lines are visible in the background.

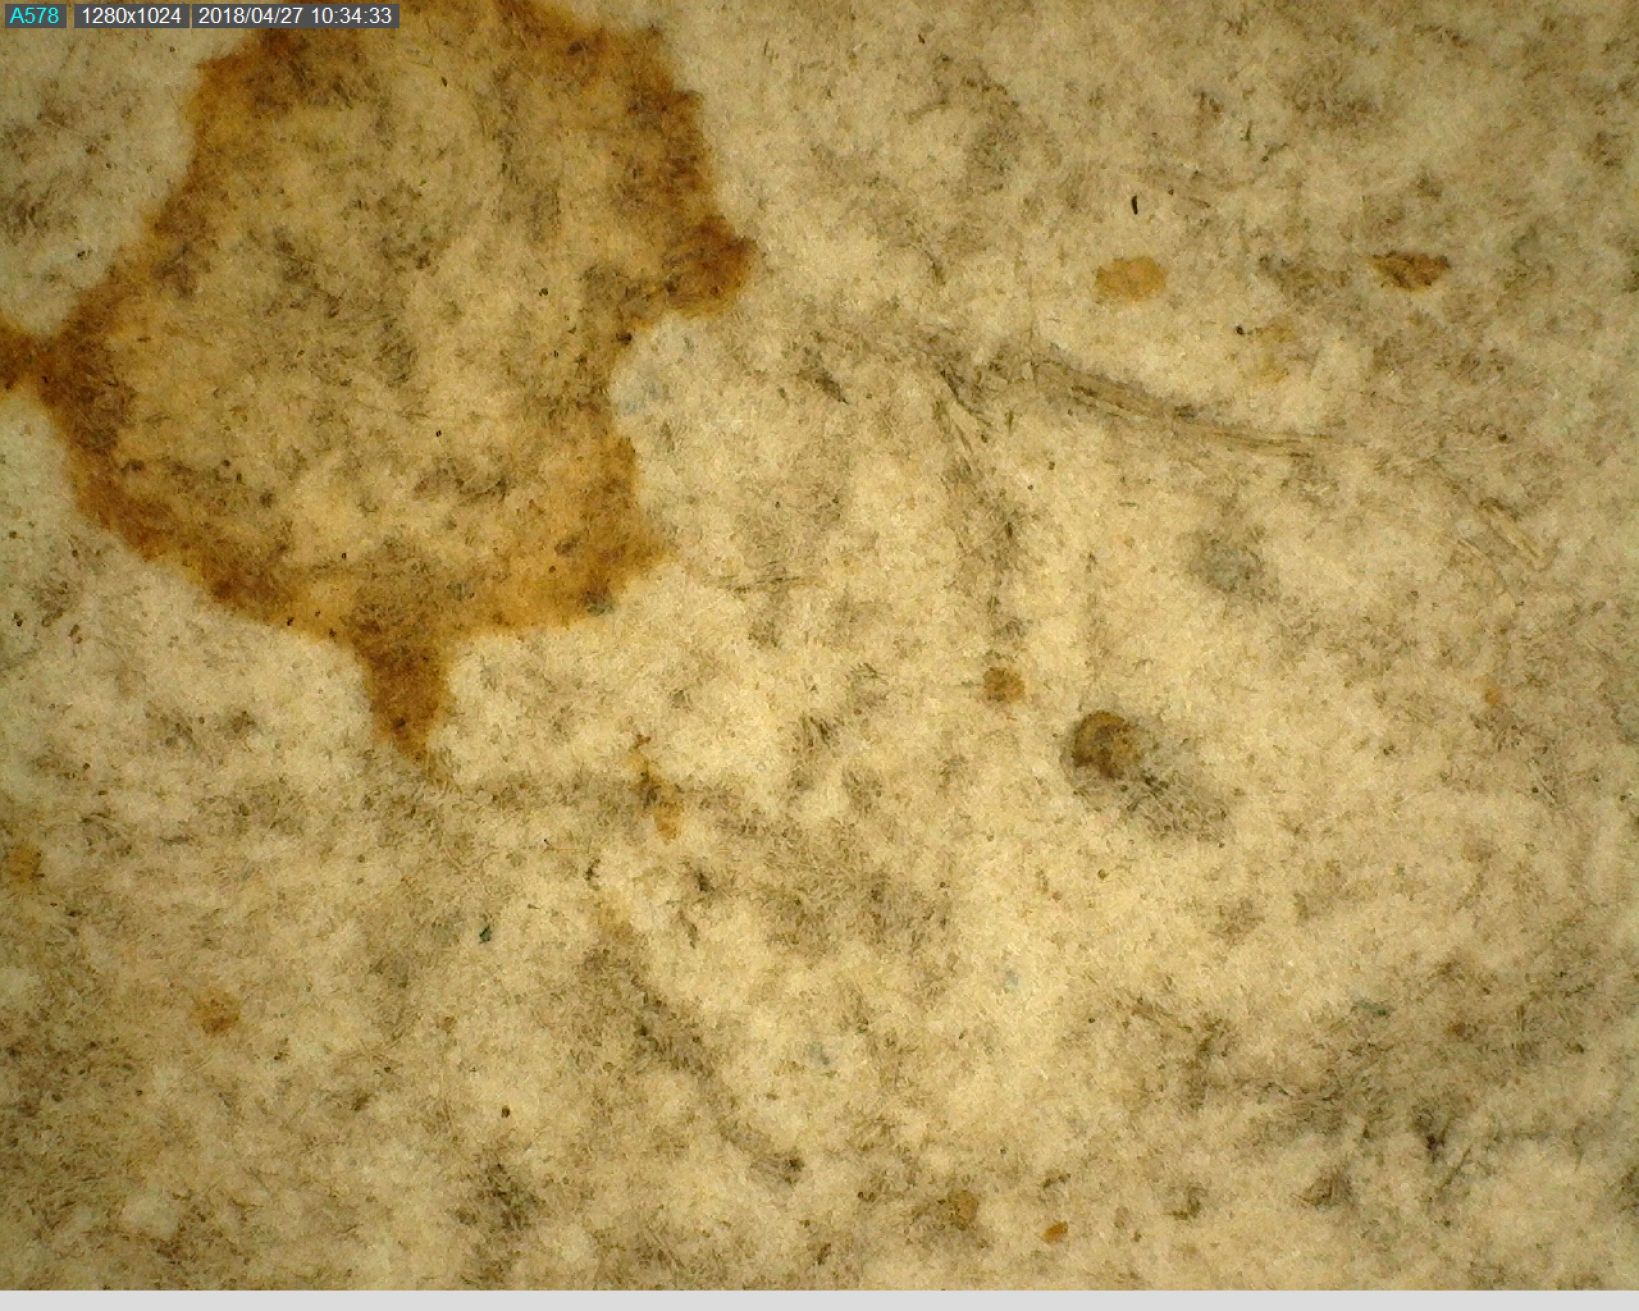

Handwritten text in a stylized script, possibly a form of cursive or shorthand, written in dark ink on aged, textured paper. The text is arranged in two lines, with a horizontal yellow line separating the two. The characters are thick and expressive, with some loops and flourishes. The first line contains a single large character that curves upwards. The second line contains four characters: a tall, narrow character, a character with a curved top, a character with a large loop, and a character with a long, sweeping tail.
