

Handwritten text in a dark ink on a light-colored, fibrous paper. The characters are stylized and appear to be in a non-Latin script, possibly a form of Chinese or Japanese calligraphy. The visible characters include a large character on the left, a character in the middle, and a character on the right, with additional fragments of characters visible at the bottom.

