

Handwritten text in a vertical column on the left side of the manuscript, likely serving as a title or index.

Main body of handwritten text in a historical script, possibly Grantha or Tamil, arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The text is densely packed and includes some larger characters that may represent specific terms or symbols.

A grid structure on the left side of the main text block, consisting of approximately 4 columns and 6 rows, possibly used for organizing data or as a reference table.

A grid structure on the right side of the main text block, consisting of approximately 4 columns and 6 rows, similar to the one on the left, likely used for organizational purposes.

Handwritten text on the left margin, oriented vertically.

Table with multiple columns and rows of handwritten text, possibly a ledger or account book. The text is in an ancient script, likely Tamil or Grantha. The table structure is defined by vertical and horizontal lines.

Small rectangular label or marker on the right edge of the manuscript.

152

Handwritten text on the left margin, oriented vertically.

Handwritten text in a historical script, possibly Indic, arranged in a grid-like structure with horizontal and vertical lines. The text is densely packed and appears to be a form of ledger or record-keeping.

