

Handwritten Chinese characters in black ink on aged paper. The characters are arranged vertically and appear to be '正' (Zheng) at the top, followed by '正' (Zheng), and '正' (Zheng) at the bottom. The ink is thick and slightly irregular, suggesting a brush or thick marker. The paper is yellowed and textured, with a vertical red line on the right side.

