Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript, written on aged, yellowish-brown paper. The text is arranged in five lines within a red-inked rectangular border. The script is dense and characteristic of historical European cursive.

Vertical text on the right margin, possibly a date or reference, written in the same cursive script. It appears to be a date in the format of day, month, and year.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is arranged in several lines across the page. The script is dense and characteristic of historical South Asian or Middle Eastern manuscripts. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowish-brown paper. The lines of text are roughly parallel to each other, following the curve of the page. The script is highly stylized, with many characters that are difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge of the language and script. The overall appearance is that of an ancient or medieval manuscript fragment.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript, written on a strip of parchment. The text is arranged in several lines, with some words appearing to be in a different script or dialect than the main body of text. The parchment is aged and shows signs of wear.

Vertical text written along the right edge of the parchment strip, possibly a marginal note or a continuation of the main text.
