

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely a form of Pahlavi or Old Persian, inscribed on a parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately 12 horizontal lines. The script is highly stylized and dense, with some characters appearing to be ligatures or specific dialectal forms. The parchment is aged and shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration. The text is written in a cursive style, typical of ancient manuscripts. The first line begins with a large, decorative initial character. The overall appearance is that of a fragment of an ancient document, possibly a legal or administrative record.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely a form of Pahlavi or Old Persian, inscribed on a parchment strip. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. The script is dense and characteristic of the Sassanid era. The parchment is aged and shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration.