

Handwritten text in an ancient script, possibly Indic, on aged paper. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. Several words are written in red ink, serving as section markers or initials. The script is dense and cursive, with some characters appearing to be variations of a common set of symbols. The paper shows signs of wear, including discoloration and small holes.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, possibly Pahlavi or Sogdian, written on aged, stained parchment. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. Several words or phrases are written in red ink, serving as rubrics or headings. The script is dense and cursive, with some characters appearing to be ligatures. The parchment shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration, particularly on the left side.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, possibly Coptic or Greek, written on aged, yellowed parchment. The text is arranged in approximately 12 horizontal lines, enclosed within a faint red rectangular border. The script is dense and cursive, with some characters appearing to be ligatures. The parchment shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration, particularly at the corners and along the edges. The text is written in black ink, and the overall appearance is that of an ancient manuscript page.
