Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Tamil, on a fragment of aged paper. The text is arranged in approximately seven lines, written in black ink. The script is dense and characteristic of classical South Asian languages. The paper is yellowed with age and has irregular, torn edges. Two vertical red lines are drawn on the paper, one on the left and one on the right, framing the text. The text appears to be a continuous passage, possibly a religious or philosophical treatise, given the nature of such manuscripts.
