

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Burmese, on aged, yellowed paper. The text is arranged in three lines, with a small initial character on the left side of the first line. The script is dense and characteristic of traditional Burmese manuscripts.