

Manuscript reference: Ds 279

This folded square piece of paper is painted with the image of a right hand in the gesture of giving or fearlessness, which was traced using black ink. Hand gestures are crucial in the practice of Tibetan Buddhism and Bon and are therefore represented carefully. It might have been kept so as to be used as a stencil.